

Bald Eagle — The U.S. national bird, Bald Eagles are easy to spot because of their bright white heads. Due to hunting and pesticide, populations shrank drastically in the 20th century but are recovering. Young Bald Eagles can spend their first few years of life looking for new territory.

Colors: brown with a white head and yellow beak and feet.