

Great Blue Heron — A common sight in many parts of the U.S., Great Blue Herons are the largest type of heron in North America. Since most birds have hollow bones, these big water birds still only weigh around 4-8 pounds.

Colors: gray with black and white on throat and head, with a yellow beak.