

Rosy-faced Lovebird – A colorful, squeaky parrot, Rosy-faced Lovebirds were originally brought to the U.S. from Africa as pets. After escaping or being set free, some set up colonies in Phoenix, Arizona, where their descendants continue to live in the wild today.

Colors: green with orange head and blue feathers on tail.