

Verdin — With their bright yellow heads and gray bodies, Verdins are distinctive sights. These little birds dart among plants and flowers. They eat insects and may build several sphere-shaped nests each year made from twigs and other things.

Colors: yellow head and gray body, with a small reddish-brown patch on each shoulder.